Leave Microsoft alone. This is the first company in the history of the United States to be number one in the world at what they do. I think that Mocrosoft has done a wonderful service to this country and I do not want any damage to the company that has managed to keep the foreigners away from the leadership in this technology. Microsoft deserves all of our support so that they will be able to concentrate on bringing to us the newest advances in computer software and related technology. Sincerely Frank Caycedo M.D.
